

Nursing Skills: Alzheimer's & Dementia

The Alzheimer's & Dementia Workshop for IENs:

As a nurse, it is important to continually develop nursing competency and update skills to reflect current practice expectations. As the incidences of Alzheimer's and Dementia continue to increase, so does the need for accurate information about disease progression, caregiving strategies and available community supports.

This workshop, taught by a qualified nurse educator, will enhance knowledge and skills to support not only those diagnosed, but also family, friends, and entire communities being impacted by Alzheimer's and Dementia.

Learning Topics:

- Overview of dementia and Alzheimer's disease
- Risk factors of dementia
- Warning signs
- Diagnosis of dementia
- Most common forms of dementia
- Understanding changes in the brain
- Cognitive and behavioral changes during dementia
- Delirium
- How to support challenging behaviors
